If the Wilson Bill should pass with free coal or the proposed reduction in the duty it would compel mine owners to reduce their selling price to meet compe-tition. This would require a reduction of the wages of the miner and laborer who today is working as low as he ought who today is working as low as he ought to without degrading himself to the level of the half-starved, poorly clothed pauper labor of Europe. We don't want this state of things in America. It is to the interest of the employer, the community and the State that labor should earn enough to provide the necessary comforts of life to enable a man to live in bodily comfort and in good moral condition. Marinsunto, W. Va., Aug. 16.—A party of boys out chasing foxes Wednesday came upon the dogs burrowing in the ground. They made exurface came upon the remains of a child about a week old, wrapped in an old newspaper. Examination showed that the child had been strangled to death, there being a stout string drawn tightly about its neck. Further search showed a piece of the same string hanging from a tree near by, showing that the murderess had hanged the infant before burging it.

Now Contains the Celebrated Tariff Bill.

The Leading Question Is, What Will He Do With It?

Washington, Aug. 16.—The tariff ill was delivered to Private Secretary hurber at the executive mansion at 10 p. m. Wednesday, by Representa-ive Pearce, chairman of the house omegan the president is given by law 10.4.

kilo p. m., Wednesday, by Representative Pearee, chairman of the house committee on enrolled bills. The president is given by law 10 days to consider a bill. He may hold the bill till midnight of August 27, when, if not signed, it will become a law by the president to sign the bill, so as to put an end to all uncertainty in the business community at large. The treasury department is concerned over the heavy withdrawals of whisky from bond to get the benefit of the present low rate. While the revenues are largely increased by this procupation of the benefit of the present low rate. While the revenues are largely increased by this procupation of the benefit of the present low rate. While the revenues are largely increased by this procupation of the benefit of the present of the obtaining revenue from sugar at once is realized. Raw sugar is now coming into the United States by the ship loads, and while the trust bought heavily in advance, they are still importing. In or whisky the president is urged by Secretary Carlisle to sign the bill immediately. If the whisky me are given lo days more the greater portion of the increased revenue will be lost to the treasury.

increased revenue will be lost to the treasury.

Mr. Carlisle has about squelched the "poppur" bills sent to the senate by the house. His letter says that if ager is put on the free likely oncome to the treasury, which will force another bond issue. The feeling against the trust is still so intense, that if the bill is allowed to run up there will be made a great effort to pass it. There is little probability that any of the free bils will go through at this session.
